Why not bring along a friend in need and help them to start over?

On the day, we create a safe haven in which you can take professional advice to build the confidence and skills you need to go it alone, whether you are going through divorce and break up, or starting over from redundancy or bereavement.

The Starting Over Show is taking place in Brighton, Sunday 28 March 2010, at the Hilton Brighton Metropole. The SOS event will help people who are facing divorce, redundancy, bereavement, retirement, the kids leaving home or even just stuck in a rut.

The recent London show was featured on GMTV and the Brighton event will mix lawyers and yoga, financial experts and guided meditation, life coaching and dating advice - a holistic approach which visitors truly appreciate, as you will see if you check out the video and testimonials on the website at <http://www.startingovershow.co.uk> or you can read some of them below.

The Lady magazine did a great report on SOS here: <http://www.lady.co.uk/drupal-6.14/?q=node/87180>

You may also be interested to know that there is a resource website at <http://www.sosvillage.org/>, the SOS Village, which is an independent site which aims to provide access to a wide range of information and advice.

This is what visitors said about our last SOS event

“SOS brought together a lovely mix of professional support to dip into from a whole spectrum of services.” Bryony

“Really enjoyed my visit. A great concept. Good luck with Brighton!” Mary

"I like the show because everyone had a positive attitude, the stands were varied and covered different aspects of info on starting over. There was a good mixture of legal and professional advice and people were very generous with their time. The location was central and convenient..... Overall uplifting" Slaveia

I attended the starting over show because I am starting a new business venture and I also wanted to seek advice regarding civil partnerships. I was delighted to find that I met people to help me with both. Overall I felt that the show was extremely informative very relaxed, inventive and reasonably priced for entry. ... I would be happy to recommend this to anyone starting over in any way. Rozanna
